

Vacancy

Energy Manager

Do you want to take the lead in guiding large organizations through their renewable energy transition? You want to work in a dynamic environment? At AYA we undertake real action for the climate. Do you want to make a difference with us?

The vacancy at a glance

- As Energy Manager you take the lead. You determine and manage your clients' energy strategy
- You work in a warm environment where you share in the profits
- We look at your future potential (not your past degrees)
- You chose the right combination between working at home, at one of our offices or your clients

What can you expect

- You define the energy strategy for your clients. You take final responsibility for the implementation of the optimal solutions in close collaboration with your clients.
- You guarantee a coherent energy approach for each client, guiding them through our 4 pillars: energy strategy, on-site energy, real green energy (=PPA's), traditional energy.
- You are the SPOC for your clients.
- You identify and drive the relevant stakeholders (at both client and supplier level) to make every project a success.
- You direct your client's C-level via quarterly meetings.
- You know how to convert leads into long-term partnerships.
- You actively share your insights and best practices with the team.
- You take initiative and contribute to strategic decision-making to boost AYA' ambitions.

Who are we

AYA is a network of energy experts on a mission to convert environmental awareness into action. We help company leaders to bridge responsibility with profitability.

We are a cohesive and dynamic team in full growth. The team relies on your strengths and stimulates your personal development. You will work in a cutting-edge environment where new technologies and regulations drive us. Amongst others, AYA created a model to exchange real green energy between energy-producers and energy-consumers in Belgium.

What do we offer

- A warm and inclusive work environment
- A competitive salary and benefits
- A share in the profit and value you co-create
- A laptop, phone and a mobility budget or company car
- You chose the right combination between working at home, at one of our offices or your clients

Who are you

- You have a deeply rooted passion for the renewable energy transition
- You are a generalist: you see the big picture
- You have a can-do attitude and take responsibility
- You want to improve yourself by continuous learning
- You are fluent in English, and in Dutch or French
- You are a confident speaker who writes well
- We look at your future potential (not your past degrees)
- You have basic computer skills
- You will need a driver license B or in the near future
- Experience in the energy sector is an added value

How do you apply

Explain us why we need you and send it with your resume to: jobs@aya.energy.

We will make sure to get in touch within a week and invite you for an interview if we were energized by your letter.